

German for Refugees with Academic Ambitions

(320 lessons financed by the Germany National Agency for Employment)

Für high school graduates and students who want to study in Germany and graduates who would like to find a qualified job in Germany

Start of course: Nov. 23, 2015

!!! This course is only available for certain refugees!!!

- nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran or Eritrea,
- arrival in Germany less than 3 months ago and holding a „Bescheinigung über die Meldung als Asylsuchender (BüMa)“ or a so-called „Aufenthaltsgestattung“, valid until February 28, 2016
- refugees speaking no or only little German
- holding a high school certificate granting university access or any proof of a university inscription
- intending to study in Germany or to work in a highly qualified job
- staying in the Düsseldorf region at least until March 2016
- willing to come to class five days a week (Monday to Friday) for five lessons per day, to do additional homework and to learn for their intermediate exams (unexcused and frequent absences will lead to exclusion from class!)
- able to communicate in English with ease

Cannot be accepted refugees:

- from other countries than those mentioned above
- who have been staying in Germany for more than three months
- already recognized as asylum seekers which entitles them to German courses paid by the BAMF, the Federal Office for Migration and Refugees.
- having registered officially with their papers for an „Einstiegskurs“ or an „Integrationskurs“ at another institution
- not used to intensive learning, do not have the required education or do not speak English

These groups may attend other types of language classes

To register for these courses please bring the following documents (if possible):

- high School diploma (no translation necessary)
- a CV in your own handwriting in English or French
- German documents: Bescheinigung über die Meldung als Asylsuchender or Aufenthaltsgestattung

IIK will make all copies of documents itself!
