As a multicultural capital city with 3.7 million inhabitants, Berlin stands out not only as the center of German politics, but also as a world-renowned hub of culture, fashion, clubbing, and creativity. Alongside sites commemorating the complex history of the city, stand multiple shops, museums, city parks, cabarets and festivals waiting to be discovered. Berlin is home to numerous secondary schools and educational institutions, making it the perfect city to live in and study. Each district has a fascinating character of its own – for example, areas like Kreuzberg, Friedrichshain, Wedding, and Neukölln invite visitors to stay and enjoy the atmosphere in their many bars, clubs, and cafes. This uniqueness even extends into the city’s nightlife, which can run into the early morning hours. The influx of artists and creative minds from all over the world provide Berlin with its special charm and culture. Our training center which is housed in a renovated, listed building in Berlin-Mitte, reflects this as well.

International rankings confirm it again and again: Düsseldorf is a metropolis with one of the world’s highest qualities of life. The big brand names have found their home on the shopping boulevard "Königsallee". But stores in the city districts Flingern and Unterbilk provide visitors a more alternative flair to their shopping experience. The Media Harbor showcases futuristic architecture, yet it’s the Old Town, with its narrow alleyways and historical churches, that truly represents Düsseldorf. Here you can find quaint shops and rustic breweries, and a myriad of bars which combined form “the longest bar in the world”. Düsseldorf is also a vital international and business trade fair hub, and with over 50 post-secondary institutions in the surrounding area, the city serves as an important center for education and business. Art and culture enjoy outstanding reputations, Düsseldorf’s fashion, communication, and design industries are among the best in the world. Despite its size, Düsseldorf can be easily navigated. Due to its location in Western Europe, the city has Germany’s third largest airport and an excellently laid out train network, both of which perfectly connect to the rest of the world. The institute is centrally located in Pempelfort, with good connections to the old town center and the University of Applied Sciences.
